Wyomissing Bulb List

Holland Bulbs—Tulips, Hyacinths, Daffodils, etc.—are an essential for early spring flowering in every hardy garden. In order that my patrons may obtain bulbs of the very highest quality, I have for several years sent out my catalogue of Farr's Quality Bulbs in May for advance import orders. The list has been selected with the utmost care, to include only varieties which will give the most pleasure at blooming-time, including some of the choicest novelties of recent introduction.

It must be understood that I do not carry these bulbs in stock, and that my importations are governed by advance orders received from my customers before July 1. Thus it is possible for me to offer special selected bulbs at prices no higher than those asked by most dealers for ordinary bulbs. To secure the highest-quality bulbs my orders have to be in Europe early in July, and such orders will be filled with the first selection from the fields. Therefore, as a special inducement to order early, I will make a 10 per cent discount on bulb orders received before July 1.

Orders received after July 1 will be filled with select stock, if I can secure it; but the discount will not be allowed on such orders, nor can I guarantee that they will be filled with such high-quality bulbs as will go into earlier orders.

Terms.—Cash, unless otherwise specially arranged. Orders from unknown correspondents without satisfactory commercial rating should be accompanied by a remittance to cover the order, or by bank reference. Please remit by Post-Office or Express Money Order, Registered Letter, or Bank Draft. Parcel-Post stamps will be accepted for amounts less than $1.

The fact that I supply bulbs on special orders (thereby having no unsold surplus) enables me to furnish the very choicest bulbs at prices usually asked for ordinary grades.

THE IRISES FROM WYOMISSING

The ideal time for planting Irises is in the month of August, for then they have completed their spring growth, and are ready to begin life anew in their new home, soon becoming established and growing into sturdy plants that will bloom freely the following spring-and summer.

Irises, as a rule, are sun-loving plants, prefer good drainage, and may be grown in dry soil where little else will thrive. Some varieties thrive in moist ground bordering on streams, while some, like Iris versicolor, are perfectly at home at the water's edge. My collection contains several hundred varieties, including many new and rare sorts not to be found elsewhere.

FARR'S HARDY PLANT SPECIALTIES

SIXTH EDITION, 1917-1918

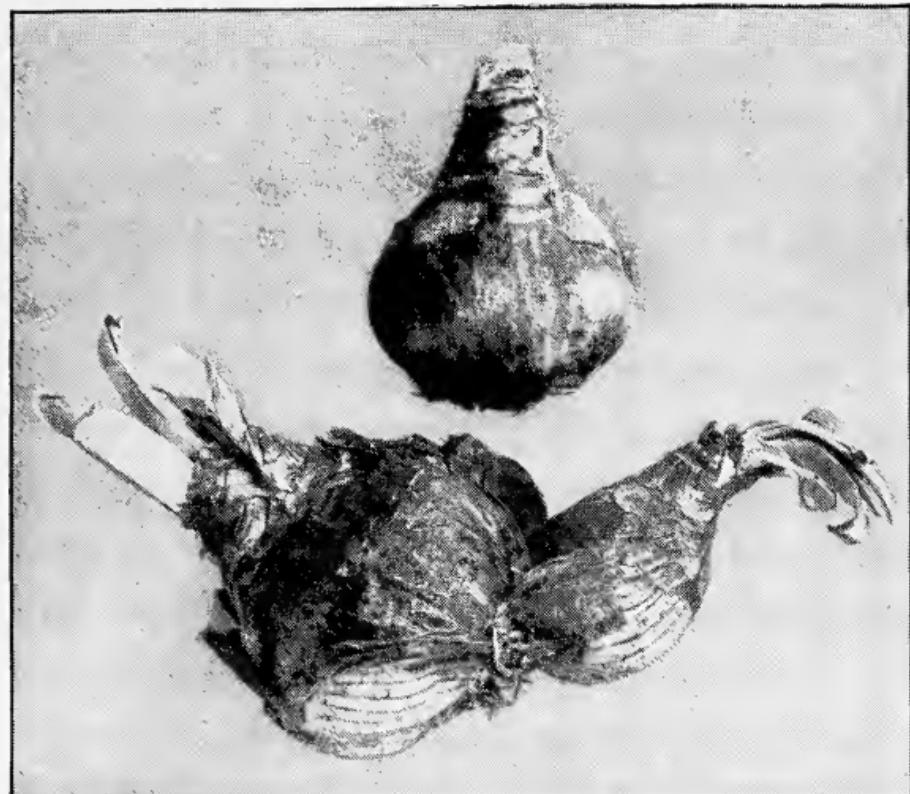

This is a text-book of the hardy plants grown here at Wyomissing. Over five hundred varieties of Peonies are accurately described; the hundreds of Irises are classified, and information given about how to grow them.

The new edition has been mailed to all of my customers. I trust your copy reached you safely and will be preserved, as the book is issued only biennially. It is too expensive for general distribution, yet it is my desire to place a copy in the hands of those who are interested in hardy plants.

Bulbs of Sir Watkin Narcissus. Upper Bulb is the ordinary first-size; the lower shows one of Farr's Mother Bulbs

DAFFODILS (Narcissi)

Daffodils will continue to increase every year, and, when naturalized on the lawn, in meadows, or in orchards, they will form great colonies. Daffodils are invaluable for planting among shrubs and in the hardy border, and especially among the peonies, their golden cups making a beautiful contrast with the bright red peony shoots coming out of the ground.

"Mother Bulbs" (often called "double-nose") are bulbs that have reached maturity and are about to break into several smaller bulbs. The "Mother Bulbs" will send up several flower-stems, whereas the ordinary bulbs seldom produce more than one stem. So many of my customers call for "Mother Bulbs" that I have decided not to list the common "first-size" bulbs. However, I can order them if specially requested, at a discount of 20 per cent on prices of "Mother Bulbs."

TULIPS

The great variety of dazzling colors, in every conceivable combination, makes the Tulip the most popular of the spring-flowering bulbs. By planting bulbs of the different classes, a display of bloom may be had for several weeks, beginning first with the early-flowering section and ending with the Darwins.

Tulips may be planted any time from the first of October until the ground freezes, and if the beds are later to be occupied by shallow-rooting plants such as geraniums, coleus, etc., they may be allowed to remain a second year without lifting, merely by removing the tops as soon as they turn yellow.

If necessary, the bulbs may be carefully lifted as soon as they have ceased blooming and heeled in, in an out-of-the-way place, until they have completed their growth, when they may be stored in a cool, dry place until fall. Planted in the hardy border and among shrubbery, they may be allowed to remain year after year undisturbed; but they will gradually deteriorate and will, in a few years, have to be replaced.

SINGLE EARLY TULIPS IN EXTRA-FINE MIXTURE

This is a choice collection, made up from the best named varieties. The flower-stems are of about the same length, and the blooms come at the same time, important points to be considered when selecting bedding varieties. The mixture is superior in every way to the common mixtures, which I do not recommend. 20 cts. per doz., $1 per 100, $9 per 1,000.

DOUBLE EARLY TULIPS

As a general rule, double Tulips are not so effective as single Tulips, but the flowers are more durable, and as their season of bloom is somewhat later they serve to prolong the flowering period. With few exceptions they should be used for outdoor bedding only, as they do not force so well as the single varieties.

HYACINTHS

For garden culture, the treatment is about the same as for Tulips, except that the bulbs should be set farther apart—say 6 to 10 inches.

For indoor culture the bulbs may be potted any time from September to December, using a light, rich soil containing plenty of well-rotted cow or sheep manure. Set the bulbs so that the tops are just above the surface.

The pots should then be placed outside, and covered with coal-ashes or some litter for a period of ten to twelve weeks, when the bulbs will be thoroughly rooted. Bring them in a few at a time for a succession of blooms as wanted. They should be brought into heat gradually; to place them at once in a room having a high temperature will cause them to flower prematurely. They may be stored in a cool cellar until ready to be brought to the light.

If it is desired to grow them in glasses of water, the base of the bulb should barely touch the water. They should then be set in a cool, dark place until the glass is full of roots.

The following list contains none but those varieties which produce the largest and finest trusses of bloom.

FIRST-SIZE EXHIBITION

Comparatively few bulbs of this quality come to this country—they are the very finest selections from the stock of several growers, are extra large and solid, and must not be confused with those often sold as "Exhibition Bulbs," which the Hollanders consider a second size. The bulbs here offered are used principally for forcing. I recommend them to all who wish the finest blooms.

CROCUSES

Crocuses are among the earliest of spring flowers, and are most effective when planted under the sod about the lawn.

They can be strewn thickly over the surface and should be planted just as they fall, merely lifting the sod with a knife or trowel, slipping the bulbs underneath and pressing the sod back into place. Planted in this way they will live for years, and are always a most welcome harbinger of spring. They can also be used in design beds, in which case none but the named varieties should be planted.

Mixed Crocuses, in separate colors, Blue, White, and Striped, or all colors together. 15 cts. per doz., 65 cts. per 100, $6 per 1,000.

IRISES, Bulbous-Rooted

The following Irises are all species with bulbs or roots, which in most cases ripen and become dormant in summer. All of the species belonging to this group must be planted in the fall. They are perfectly hardy, but many of them bloom so early that they must be planted in a sheltered place where they will be protected from frosts and cutting winds. A few of the species have fleshy rhizomes, the leaves of which do not entirely disappear.

The first to flower are the Reticulata group, including Histro, Histroides and Reticulata. These early sorts require a heavy loam, without manure, and are impatient of stagnant water. Mingled with a carpeting of Alpine plants, which serve to protect the plants and the long, fragile leaves, they will find a congenial home.

Following these in the order of bloom are the Juno Irises, including Bucharica, Fosteriana, Orchioides, Persica, Pur-sind and Sindjarensis, distinguished by their long bulbs and by the fleshy roots which remain attached to the bulbs, even when dry. Care should be taken that these roots do not become detached.

These varieties require a rich, porous, warm soil, where the roots can ramify freely; they may be left to themselves for several years if established in congenial quarters.

Iris alata, which belongs to this group, is among the earliest to bloom, and requires the protection of a frost-proof frame in winter. The last to bloom of the bulbous Irises are the Spanish and English varieties, which are the best known and the most popular.

Orders for the Irises in this class MUST BE SENT IN BEFORE JULY 1, as they come from countries in southeastern Europe and Asia Minor, and are IMPORTED ONLY ON SPECIAL ORDER.

ONCOCYCLUS AND REGELIA IRISES (Cushion Irises)

To flower these to perfection is the ambition to which every true Iris enthusiast aspires—and those who delight in attempting difficult things will reap a rich reward should their efforts meet with success. These varieties seem to be the highest development of the Iris.

They are usually short-lived under ordinary cultivation, because of the fall growth which is invariably damaged by frost. The secret of success is in planting them in December, before the ground freezes, and in giving them the abundant supply of lime which is found in their native soil.

This latter can be accomplished by mixing plenty of old mortar in the soil and fertilizing well with bone meal. I grow them in a coldframe, removing the sash as soon as the weather becomes warm; replacing the sash in August before growth begins, to exclude any moisture which would start them to growing again; or they may be lifted and stored in perfectly dry sand, in a warm place.

Atropurpurea. Dark brown. 15 cts. each, $1.50 per doz., $10 per 100.

Bismarckiana (Sari Nazarena). Flowers very large; white; falls minutely veined black; standards veined sky-blue. 15 cts. each, $1.50 per doz., $10 per 100.

Gatesii. Gigantic flowers; silvery white, finely splashed and veined purple. Very rare. $1.75 each.

Korolkowi. Various shades of white, purple and violet, beautifully veined. Mixed varieties, 15 cts. each, $1.50 per doz., $10 per 100.

Lorteti. A rare and charming variety; large flowers; rosy crimson spots, with pale blue veins on white ground. $1.75 each.
Susiana (The Mourning Iris). Immense blossoms, minutely veined and dotted brown-black on a creamy white ground. Extra-heavy, flowering rhizomes, 20 cts. each, $2.25 per doz., $15 per 100.

The Oncocyclos Irises are natives of Asia-Minor; therefore delivery cannot be guaranteed this Fall on account of present war conditions.

REGELIO-CYCLUS IRIS

A new race of hardy, free-flowering hybrids of the Oncocyclos Iris, crossed with the various hardy species and unlike the Oncocyclos. They are of easy culture and may be grown without the use of coldframes, requiring only a slight mulching in the winter. While not so large as some of the Oncocyclos, they are of many artistic colors, bronzy shades of old-gold, mahogany and brown, velvety crimson, purple, blue and white. I am able to offer home-grown roots of these in an assortment of shades without names at 50 cents each and $5 per doz.

DUTCH IRIS

A giant strain of very early-flowering Iris hispanica, with flowers of enormous size and remarkable substance, in many shades of blue, white and yellow, blooming fully a fortnight earlier than the Spanish Iris. Should have some protection from frost in cold climates.

A Collection of Six Distinct Named Varieties, including many colors and shades, $1; $1.75 for two collections; $3.50 for five collections.

Mixed Varieties, 10 cts. each, $1 per doz., $7.50 per 100.

HARDY LILIES

With the exception of Lilium candidum, which seems to prefer an open position, most Lilies thrive best when planted in a semi-shaded situation, where the ground can be kept cool and moist by the protection of shrubs and a carpet of lawn grass. The bulbs should be planted from 6 to 8 inches deep, with a little sand or sphagnum moss under the base of each bulb. I do not keep these bulbs in stock, and they will be imported only to supply orders received before August 15.

Brownii. Large trumpet, the inside pure white, the outside shaded chocolate-brown. 75 cts. each, $7.50 per doz.

Candidum (Madonna Lily). Pure white. Should be planted early for the best results. Extra-size bulbs, 15 cts. each, $1.50 per doz., $10 per 100.

I am growing in pots several thousand Candidum Lilies for late fall or early spring planting. These may be planted with safety by anyone.
